PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—California 5, Philadelphia 4. That is the way the game was marked in the Quaker City today. Harry Hooper of Santa Barbara, Cal., and "Duffy" Lewis of Los Angeles were the real bonanzas. "Duffy" hit the home run this afternoon when they won the game and the world's title for Boston by a score of 5 to 4.

It was a game of thrills throughout, and the spectators packed like sardines in a can were wild with enthusiasm. It is a hard game to describe. There were moments of joy, despair, comedy and real tragedy mixed into one. Boston had played its best ball when Carrigan sent George Foster to the mound against Frankie Mayer, and Foster had failed to stop the Phillies up to the eighth inning, while Mayer was taken out for Rixey, the Virginia southpaw.

Philadelphia fans had seated themselves back in their seats in the first of the eighth inning, satisfied that the Quakers would win. The score was 4 to 2 in favor of the locals, and the most rabid Boston fan hardly hoped for a victory. But they had not reckoned on two Californians on the Boston team.

The Red Sox got one man to first in the first of the eighth, and "Duffy" Lewis, a "Native Son," came to the bat. Eppa Jephth Rixey, F. V. V. was on the mound. The spirit of the west was uppermost in "Duffy's" mind and, as the ball sailed toward the rubber, the left fielder reached for one of the Virginian's shots and lifted it far over the right field wall. The run came across the plate and Boston had a chance to win.

As Lewis reached the rubber, Boston players lifted him up and tried him to the bench amid cheers of the Boston crowd. The Philadelphia fans had not been up hope, but Quaker stock declined a few points. In the half of the eighth, Foster was taken back to the bench with his groin fire ball, and the Quakers failed to score.

HOOPER'S BIG HOME RUN
When the first of the ninth came around it looked like an exciting game, but the critics had not lost the great work of the Golden State. Harry Hooper of Santa Barbara to go down ball history with Los Angeles walked to the plate the Boston pitcher had just been removed. Hooper swung, and he hit the ball, the crowd roared. Cravath gave just one look, and the ball sailed far over his head. Boston had secured a lead.

With a one-run lead, Foster went out on the hilltop in the ninth and proved Carrigan's judgment in keeping him in the game. He pitched three disheartened Quakers back to the bench without a run. The game ended with one run to last throughout a score of 5 to 4.

MEMBERS TO ATTEND EN MASSE

Municipal Affairs Committee of Chamber of Commerce Busy on Charter Affairs

"We suggest that the Chamber of Commerce use the greatest care in selecting a group of powerful speakers who will go before the Charter Convention and offer support to the charter of the Research Club, and that the meeting at which these men speak be attended by the members of the Chamber of Commerce en masse, in order that the convention may be assured that the eyes of the businessmen of Honolulu are upon the convention in whatever they do."

So runs the report of the committee on county and municipal affairs which was read before the Chamber of Commerce directors at the meeting of the board this afternoon. The directors approved the report unanimously and the speakers will be selected at a later date.

Masser, a soldier whom he charged with refusing to pay $3 for an hour and a half ride about the city after midnight, Judge Monsarrat first informed him that the court was not a collection agency and later told him that he should have more judgment than to take drunken men as passengers.

Masser was released under a 13 months' probation sentence.

Chamber of Commerce Committee of 15 Also Urges That Great Northern Be Asked To Come Here

BOOKING SYSTEM HERE IS A DISASTER

All Further Attempts to Work for Coastwise Revision Should Be Dropped, Says Report

Submitting its report on ocean traffic conditions to the committee of 15 of the Chamber of Commerce, the subcommittee of five today offered four general recommendations, which were adopted by the parent body, and which were submitted as the report of the committee of 15 to the Chamber of Commerce. The four recommendations are published in full in an issue of today's paper.

The first recommendation is that the present system of booking in common use in Honolulu should be remedied, and that the matter of putting more stringent rules on booking, with higher deposit fees, should be taken up with the local companies.

Second: That if anything can be done toward bringing the Great Northern to this port for a six months' trial the question should not be dropped.

Third: That discussions of the coastwise suspension law should be dropped.

Fourth: That the present faulty system of booking in common use in Honolulu should be remedied, and that the matter of putting more stringent rules on booking, with higher deposit fees, should be taken up with the local companies.

In closing his report Chairman A. L. Castle, who delivered it for his subcommittee, expressed his thanks for the hearty cooperation which was granted him by the steamship companies that complied with his request for passenger and freight data.

Nine members of the committee of 15 were present when the meeting was called to order by Chairman L. Tenney Peck who stated the purpose of the meeting and at once asked Mr. Castle to report.

Chairman Peck through the authority voted him by the other members signed the report following its reading by Mr. Castle. The subcommittee's report will go complete to the Chamber of Commerce, and the report asked for from the committee of 15.

ABRAMS FORCED TO LEAVE COMPANY HIS RETURN

Officials of Hawaiian Trust Company Asked for Resignation, After Paying Trip Expenses

BROWN THINKS ASHFORD INFLUENCED BY PLEA

Says Grand Jury Committee Secured Leniency By Presentation of Statement

Louis Abrams, erstwhile secretary and a director of the Hawaiian Trust Company, who with Frank L. Brown, was yesterday sentenced to pay a fine of $1000 and costs after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement returned to Honolulu to face the charges at the instance and expense of the trust company, and not entirely upon his own volition, according to a statement made today by John R. Galt, treasurer and manager of the company.

Manager Galt said that while Mr. Abrams was in San Francisco certain shortages were discovered in his accounts, and that indications were that such shortages could be accounted for only by Abrams. The company's attorneys also were confident that Abrams was responsible, Mr. Galt added.

When confronted by the charge of alleged shortage by Philbrick detectives in San Francisco, who had been advised of the circumstances by the Hawaiian Trust Company, Abrams expressed a willingness to return to Honolulu, stating that he could make satisfactory explanations, the manager continued.

Shortly after his arrival in Honolulu, Abrams' resignation as secretary and a director was requested by the officials of the trust company. Abrams complied with the request, Mr. Galt concluded.

NEW SUBMARINE FLOTILLA IS DUE LATE THURSDAY

"Will reach Honolulu some time Thursday," is the only further word which has come from Capt. Sumner E. W. Kittelle, commander of the U. S. S. Maryland, in charge of the vessels conveying the K boats here.

This telegram was received at 9 o'clock last night by Lieut. K. B. Crittenden, commander of the first submarine division here. No further radio messages from the Maryland had arrived down to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

It is expected that the K-3, K-4, K-7 and K-8, with the three vessels conveying them, will not arrive before a late hour tomorrow afternoon. They will probably be able to sight Diamond Head early tomorrow morning, but as they are only making eight or nine knots an hour at best, may not come to dock before late in the day.

Lieut. Crittenden today checked over the confidential books and other data on board the Alert, which he has to turn over to his relief, Lieut. J. V. Ogan, commanding the third division. Lieut. Ogan will take charge of the Alert during the absence of Kittelle.

Lieut. Crittenden, while the K-1, K-2 and K-3 are undergoing the extensive alterations and repairs slated for them by the navy department as a result of the F-4 disaster.

Cmdr. F. N. Freeman, commander of the torpedo flotilla, will return to San Francisco on the Maryland, after the K boats arrive, said Lieut. Crittenden this afternoon. "He is only making the trip for the experience, and will return to San Francisco on the cruiser when she and the other boats leave to tow the F-1, F-2 and F-3 to Mare Island navy yard."

All wireless equipment on the three F boats received thorough overhauling and tuning today in preparation for the voyage. The sets on each boat have a range of about 25 miles, but are only intended for inter-communication, between the Maryland and the submarines, or from one submarine to another.

JORGENSEN HOST TO COMMISSION

With an early start in the morning and a late return at night, four members of Honolulu's water commission made a thorough study of the Waialae tunnel yesterday. Those who made the trip were Chairman Lorrin A. Thurston, Jorgen Jorgensen, Clerk P. Maurice McMahon and Engineer Thomas F. Sedgwick. The trip was made at the invitation of Mr. Jorgensen, contractor at Waialae, who took the company in his big touring car.

Though there was not time to ascend to the Waialae springs, the party went part way up the mountain and had the location pointed out and explained to them by Mr. Jorgensen. Two hours were spent in the Waialae tunnel, the party exploring it to the distance of nearly a mile. Samples of rock were taken from various parts to help ascertain the kind of rock that will be encountered if the commission decides to bore for water.

Some of the rock proved to be very spongy and soft, while other was of flintlike hardness. Mr. Jorgensen, who proved an excellent host, furnished entire outfits for wading, with rubber boots and oilskin clothes. After the investigation lunch was served in his cottage at the camp.

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless]
LONDON, England, Oct. 13.—The correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung says that a violent artillery duel is in progress in Champagne, possibly heralding a new drive of the Allies. The French are attempting to disturb the German rear communications. At the salient points the German forces around Tannenberg and Somme are suffering heavily.

LONDON, England, Oct. 13.—On the decision of today's cabinet meeting probably depends the issue of conscription to raise more soldiers for the Allies' cause.

It is known that the cabinet will discuss the question of enforced enlistment as a means of adding to the British armies in the field and a definite decision is possible at today's meeting.

BERLIN, Germany, Oct. 13.—The invasion of Serbia by the hundreds of thousands of Austrians and Germans is progressing at a steady rate, although the stiff resistance put up by the Serbs is retarding the advance to some extent. The Teutons have succeeded in capturing important positions south of Belgrade.

Greece Denies Bound to Aid Serbia

LONDON, England, Oct. 13.—Aside from the formal declaration of war by Bulgaria, today brought no new developments in the unsettled Balkan situation. Greece does not consider the situation as purely Balkan, and therefore she is not bound by the treaty with Serbia to aid the Serbs against the Bulgarians. This treaty, negotiated after Bulgaria broke with the other Balkan states near the close of the Balkan-Turkish war, is held by Greece to be applicable only when the situation does not extend in scope beyond the nations which at that time participated in the treaty.

Bulgaria Formally at War With Serbia

LONDON, England, Oct. 13.—Bulgaria has formally declared war on Serbia. Though Bulgarian troops had invaded Serbian soil, it was not until today that the formal declaration was made.

The entrance of Bulgaria marks the twelfth nation engaged in the European conflict. It is estimated that it will add 300,000 first-class soldiers to the fighting against the Teutonic empires.

Japan Pouring Munitions Into Russia

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 13.—That Russia has been receiving munitions of war from Japan at a rate of 20,000 daily for more than three months is the declaration of Robinson, a London engineer who has just returned from Petrograd. Robinson says that the receipt of munitions helped materially in checking the Teuton armies against Warsaw and Kovno and other fortresses had been taken and the Russians were being pushed steadily back.

Russians Win Again at Strips River

PETROGRAD, Russia, Oct. 13.—Another striking victory has been won by the Russian forces operating on the eastern front of the eastern Galician section.
